ATHLETIC RULE
BARS AMATEURS
TAKING GIFTS

The business men of this city are fully awake to the fact that Klamath Falls has a real football team and that it should receive the encouragement that is due it from the business element of this community. Better prospects show up daily that with the team working smoothly under able instruction from Coach "Hi" Wood, that southern Oregon may come into its own this year by carrying off the plunkin laurels and also play at Eugene with the winner from the northern part of the state.

Oscar Peyton realizing the fact keenly had decided to spur the boys on to unusual effort and in a letter had stated that each of the three men who in the judgment of the coach performed the best in the game at Ashland Saturday were to receive from him as a gift, a cord of slabwood, equivalent to $3.50 cash.

Cannot Take Gift.

Amateur athletic rules forbid the donation of money to any athlete who plans to play on collegiate amateur teams. The acceptance of one cent cash by any player in grammar school, high school or college athletics places him under the professional rule and forbids his participating in any contests with amateurs.

Professor Robert Goets received the announcement of the intended gifts to the three players but was forced to decline it owing to the Klamath County High school being a member of the American Amateur Athletic Association and the rules forbid the acceptance of any kind of gifts, save laurel wreaths or medals donated by the school, college or university for such events.

"While we would like to accept Mr. Peyton's offer and appreciate highly the spirit with which the offer is made, also the pride which he displays in the team, still it is such that the school and the players must decline any sort of a reward. The boys are amateurs and desire to enter greater athletic events later on in their school life so under the rules, the offer must reluctantly be laid aside in their interest. Let Mr. Peyton and other business men of this city know that the faculty and the boys of the school are appreciative of the offer and even without it, will put forth the best efforts they have to justify the faith and confidence of their townsmen.

Mojave Desert Sand
Sold to Settlers

REDLAND, Cal., Oct. 14.—Barren sands of the Mojave desert, which are assessed at thirty five cents an acre, have been sold recently by promoters to Canadians and New England residents, for as high as $35 an acre, according to information received by the chamber of commerce here.

Soon, it is expected, there will be coming to the Mojave little groups of settlers expecting to find their land fertile and flowerbearing but who instead will find their tracts in desolate wastes thirty miles from a railroad and far from water.

If you want to sell it, buy it, trade it, or find it, try a Herald classified ad.
